A few years ago I would have thought the the various concerns raised by residents and even some environmental groups about the Humboldt Wind project merited delay or finding another site. Recent climate reports, though, make it clear that there is actually not time for that. The Humboldt Wind project will have a significant impact on changing power in this county to fossil free. Any mitigations we can do without changing the nature or benefit of the project are fine. But shelving it, or trying to find another site, are—in my view —things we no longer have the luxury to do.

Thank you for considering my perspective.
