Subject: Humboldt Wind Energy Project

Sometimes people can't see the forest for the trees. The larger picture is hidden from view. In reading the criticisms of the Humboldt Wind Project, I think this is the case. A new road, towers in view, compacted soil, some timber cut, some noise near the towers, some dead birds etc.- If we cannot disengage from our present climate destroying energy system, we risk disastrous consequences for all the earth's residents: humans, plants and animals. If thirty years of clean energy are not worth some negative impact in our backyard, we are doomed to a climate disaster.

Build it.

Sincerely,
Charles Dwelley
