State Allocates County 4,640 Vaccine Doses for Next Week

Humboldt County has been allocated 4,640 doses of COVID-19 vaccine for next week by the State of California. That's a decrease of 2,270 doses from the prior week's allocation.

Of those doses, 1,700 are Moderna, 2,340 are Pfizer and 600 are Johnson & Johnson. Humboldt County Public Health will use 1,510 Moderna and 930 Pfizer doses at five large-scale vaccination clinics planned for next week. Remaining doses will be distributed to other approved local vaccinators.

The state is requiring counties to transition to a new system called My Turn to register for and schedule vaccination appointments as they become available. Access the system at myturn.ca.gov. More information about local implementation will be released next week.

3 New Cases Reported Today

A total of 3,492 Humboldt County residents have tested positive for COVID-19 after three new cases were reported today.
